Crownhill Road, London

In collaboration with Mulroy Architects, talented design studio Manea Kella recently helped add an extension to a family home in north London. Contrasting an original Edwardian exterior with modern interiors, Manea

Kella chose Astro's Porto Plus range for the kitchen, dining area and exterior of the house. Director of Manea Kella Adrian Manea said, "We found the design of Astro's Porto Plus lights to complement our minimalist intervention. The lights were selected due to them being elegant, compact yet striking due to the contrast created against the exposed brick and grey rendered walls."
